On April 9, the History Department held their annual Senior Awards and Scholarship ceremony. Senior award winners included Andi Gingalewski for the Bright & Lucille Beck Award in American History and Rebecca Van Horn for the Anthony J. Mazzaferri Award. Outstanding Achievement in History went to the following Fall '14 and Spring '15 graduating seniors: Ashley Crawford, Karli Eck, Joseph Gayl, and Jill Hoppes. Undergrad scholarships were given to Kevin Rhodes and Mackenzie Francis. The Martin Luther King award was given to Emily Curley, and the Professor of the Year was given to Dr. Patricia Norred-Derr by the History Club.

KU's Society of Physics Students will hold its 9th annual "Cantalobber" contest at noon on Sunday, April 19 on the north water tower field, located behind Lytle Hall. For the contest, students and hobbyists alike build mechanical or pneumatic devices. In the mechanical division, teams see which contraption can launch a cantaloupe the furthest over three launches, while pneumatic competitors, this year, will strive for accuracy over three launches. Prizes are awarded in each category; past devices have included a trebuchet and air cannons.

Kutztown University students, clad in plaid boxer shorts, bared their bodies in a soulful effort to raise money for the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. The Boxer Trot, organized by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, has raised $5,400 over the last five years for the children's hospital.
